ANOTHER DAY, ANOTHER DOLLAR!!!

Well, I must first apologise for the lack of personalised content for this month's magazine as this has been a busy September for me.

I was fortunate enough to compete in the 1993 Telecom Rally Australia in Perth and this kept me away for the month, and subsequently away from the old Word Processor.

Although the event was very exciting and a true test of man and machine, the unfortunate tragedy that surrounded the death of Rodger Fresh (co-driver to Possum Bourne) certainly cast a dark cloud over the proceedings.

I doubt that any of his immediate family would ever see a copy of 'Brisport' but I would like to express the club's deepest condolences on this terrible loss to the sport.

As happens so many times in accidents of this nature Possum walked away from the crash with minor bruises and a shaking.

The rest of the Prodrive Subaru team continued bravely on and dedicated their efforts to the memory of their lost team mate.

For the Queenslanders the event was a 'danged hoot' with the Shell Kallangur Racing Mitsubishi VR4 of Mark Griffith/Me finishing in a great 13th outright, and the Pulsar of Dean Tighe/Alan Bates coming in 22nd, Tony Best co-drove David West to (I think) 25th outright in a great performance from the little Suzuki and I am sure there were other finishers in the field from the Sunshine state. (Unfortunately, as I write this I don't have my results with me).

The rally is certainly draining over four days of competition and the early starts and late finishes make the weekend very long indeed. At this point in time thanks must go to our incredible service crew who were where they had to be each and every time to drop in some juice and repair some breakages.

Thanks to Steve Draheim, Amanda Milton, Mark Hull (and his dad Graham) (from Shell West Perth), Murray Coote and last but not least Geoff Krause.

Geoffrey spent much time on the car prior to it leaving Brisby and made sure that the thing wasn't going to fall apart, which it didn't (mostly).

I am unsure whether there have been any great events happening in Brisbane since I've been gone apart from the Bronco's making and subsequently winning the Finals, and Sydney getting the nod for the year 2000 Olympics.

There were a number of familiar faces over in Perth as Dean and Alan took along some of the boys (and girl) to service - Brendon, Nasby, John, Tim and Lyndall of course.

It's amazing but by the time you all are reading this Bathurst will be with us once more.

I had the opportunity to go to the race with Peter Marcovich's merchandising operation but unfortunately had to pull out at the last minute due to some work commitments. I guess I'll just have to watch it on TV like I do every year.

Onto other topics of interest and the front cover of the magazine comes to mind. What we are waiting for are photos of the respective club Champions from the various areas and the overall Club Champion who will grace the centre part of the cover.

We have used up all of the leftovers from last year which is why the old faces remain but the new Champions will get a fair showing.

The magazine quality continues to amaze me and we must once again thank Lyndall Parr and the Canon facilities for their support of the club.

I am very much looking forward to the club's celebratory events in the next month or so and encourage everyone to attend in support of a fantastic forty years in motorsport.

The year is not yet over in respect of events to be run and for the rallyists the up-and-coming 'Bailey Powerlines Rally' is an event not to be missed.

The name at the top of the page is once again Brian Everett, but I am reliably told that Barrie Burr is a budding Clerk-of-the-Course and is doing all of the hard work.

Following the October event is the 'Keema Classic' on it's traditional December date and Director Craig Porter promises an event to remember then as well. This rally will determine the Queensland Rally Champions for the year and the final race is between Dean Tighe/Alan Bates and Craig Lee/Kerrie Hollington.

The Shell car will be there to make it's presence known!

Please read on and enjoy this month's issue of Brisport and I promise the October issue will be bigger and better.

COMPUTERS, RADIO AND RALLYING

Brian J Mennis

The Queensland round of the Australian Rally Championships took place over the weekend of 26th. and 27th. June, mainly in the Gympie/Imbil area, but with sections at Toombul and Beerburum. There were 17 competitive stages in total over two days, and 49 cars started in Brisbane. This event was notable for the successful use of computers, connected by amateur radio, to take scores from the control point at a flying finish and then to automatically update the scoring data base, which was located in the Mayfair Crest Hotel in Brisbane.

So successful was the operation that the scoring data base was being updated for some stages within one minute of a car arriving at a flying finish control "in the bush", with an average overall of less than three minutes.

The whole operation in the field was carried out by members of the Wireless Institute Civil Emergency Network, WICEN, a group of Amateur Radio Operators whose purpose in life is to assist with communications in disaster situations. As these are thankfully few and far between, WICEN assists in communications for various sporting events, such as Car Rallies, to maintain readiness.

Data by packet radio

The system used to transmit the scores was an Amateur Radio Packet Radio Network. Packet Radio is very similar to a telephone network using telephone modems, but because the tones that can be transmitted are different to those used on the telephone lines, different modems are used. However, as the maximum baud rate that can be used by standard radio equipment is 1200, it is somewhat slower than normal telephone networks. The "Packet" in the description comes from the method of assembling each packet, which can be a maximum of 255 characters long. In effect, the system is the same as the commercial X25 standard, with the addition of radio call sign identification information to make the transmitted packet comply with the laws that regulate radio communication. It is then known as AX25, or the Amateur X25 protocol.

As all the control points were in the field with no mains power available, all of the equipment, radios, modems, computers etc. was dependent on batteries to keep the station in operation. All control point operators used laptops of various ages and vintages, and all operated successfully in the dusty environment.

Because the frequencies being used in this operation, 144.7mhz and 433.8mhz, are essentially line of sight, (not quite correct, but near enough for this article), it was necessary to set up two digital repeaters, or digipeaters, at Maleny, at the residence of Guy Minter, an excellent high site midway between the WICEN field base at Mt. Borumba and Brisbane.

Having given some of the amateur radio background, I now must give some of rally background, and explain these terms that I am using, "competitive stage", "flying finish", etc. The course for a car rally is broken up into a number of "legs", which do not concern us. Each leg is broken up into "stages" and within each stage, there are competitive and liaison stages. The part that generates the most interest is the competitive stage, where the car that records the fastest times in total over all competitive stages is the winner. That is a little simplistic, but for the readers of SIGNIFICANT BITS, it is close enough. Each car is started at a pre-set time that is recorded on the drivers road card. At the flying finish, the finish time is recorded and transferred to the driver's card and the elapsed time is calculated. The score is the elapsed time for the stage. It was the function of WICEN to get that score from the flying finish back to base as quickly as possible.

In actual fact, to ensure data integrity, the start and finish times were transmitted as well as the elapsed time, along with some message identifying information.

In the past, WICEN has used voice, and written messages were handed to the scorers at base to produce the various scores and reports. Actual scoring was carried out on a variety of spread sheet and data base programs, with, at one time, a specially written program in QuickBasic.

The switch to packet radio

With more and more amateurs using packet, this seemed to be an ideal method of sending scores to base. In the 1987 and 1989 Rallies, the Queensland Digital Group assisted in transferring scores from sub-bases to the scoring base by packet, as very few members of WICEN had packet capability at that time. In the 1988 event, plans were made for a major packet effort by the Queensland Digital Group, but these fell through along with the rest of the event when it was cancelled in the week before it was scheduled to start. In all of these events, there was no thought of trying to update the scoring data base using the packet digital data, rather the printed scores were manually re-entered into the data base by the scoring team.

Packet operations then remained dormant until 1991. In that year's event, with more WICEN members having packet equipment, Brisbane WICEN tried using this mode, with a transfer to the scorers by disk. This was a complete disaster, which was caused mainly by unsuitable software, both from WICEN and the scorers. This was not helped a poor link on the single packet frequency we were using. At an "after the event" post mortem, it was concluded that we would do far better if scores were sent one at a time, instead of 10 at a time as we had tried, and to arrange for more and better data links.

Developing the software

As a result of this meeting, and because no suitable "off the shelf" software was available, I wrote two programs, RFORM and RSCORE. The former is designed to be used at a check point in the field, and the latter to be used in base. Each is fully self-contained, and has its own packet terminal interface. These were started off in QuickC, but later I changed over to Borland C++ version 3 and later to version 3.1. The change was made mainly because of the easy availability of source code for the terminal functions necessary to interface to the packet modems.

Last year, the Brisbane Sporting Car Club did not advise us of their requirements until rather late in the year, and packet did not play a large role, although it was used to a certain extent. Where it was used, it was obvious that scores could be transferred to base very efficiently, even though, at that Rally, we were merely handing printed scores to the scorers to manually enter as in earlier years.

RFORM and RSCORE had not been completed at the time of the 1992 Rally, and did not get used. First operational use of these programs came early this year when they were used by Victorian WICEN in the Healsville Stages, which is the Victorian Round of the Australian Rally Championships. All that happened here was that the radio operators handed a disk of received scores to the car club scorers, who imported the data into their scoring program.

One of the frustrations that we had over the years was the continual changing of the Car Club's scoring method, and, following last year's event, it was suggested to the Car Club that they set up a committee to come up with a standard method of scoring, and we would help them with the interface to WICEN and packet. This did not evenuate until March, when they "found" Mike Geldens, a professional WINDOWS programmer, who also had extensive experience on databases. When we had our first meeting, he stated that it would be ideal if we could enter the data in the field, and then use the entered data to automatically update the data base. He was surprised to learn that such a system was possible, provided he could set up the links necessary from the packet system into the scoring data base. This he proceeded to do, although not without some problems. After some consideration, Mike decided that he would score on Microsoft Access, using Microsoft SQL Server running on a Lan Manager network.

Connecting to the network

The base packet software was originally intended to be RSCORE Version 2, but problems arose when we tried to connect it to the network and SQL Server. To make a direct connection, it was necessary to link several SQL Server functions into RSCORE. As mentioned earlier, RSCORE was originally compiled using Borland C++ Version 3.1, and as SQL Server is a Microsoft product, compatibility problems were found, and in the end, Borland advised that this was not possible. The solution was found in an unrelated suggestion made earlier by an active member of WICEN, Bill McDermott.

Two-channel "Windows"

As we wanted to have two radio channels into base, on 144.7mhz and 433.8mhz, Bill suggested running RSCORE (a DOS program) in two windows on Microsoft WINDOWS. This was found to work quite successfully in tests. When RSCORE was sidelined as the base program, we found the source code for a very basic WINDOWS terminal program and this was modified by Mike Geldens, with some assistance on the packet functions from myself. (Again my Borland compiler would not compile in the necessary SQL Server functions). The program that was produced was very basic, but would receive a score message, and send it down the network into SQL Server to be processed by Microsoft Access, automatically updating the data base.

The software used in the field was RFORM Version 2, and reports from the field indicated that it worked successfully. However, there were several suggestions for modifications, and these will be worked on before the next event.

As noted earlier, the main scoring base was on the 3rd. floor at the Mayfair Crest Hotel in Brisbane. Because of the length of cable that would have been necessary to go from the antennas on the roof to the 3rd floor, resulting in too much loss of signal, it was not possible to locate the radio base in the same suite. Instead, a room was made available on the 15th floor, directly over the scoring suite. A length of RG58 coaxial cable (thin coax) was run from the 3rd floor to the 15th floor outside the building to connect the computer used for packet reception with the scoring network.

"After some consideration, Mike decided to score on Microsoft Access"

To further assist in getting scores to base, another active WICEN member, and also a communications engineer, Graham Long, suggested that we should not have stations in the Gympie area connected to base through two digipeaters as this could give rise to many collision situations. His solution was to take scores into his computer on 144.7mhz and retransmit them on 433.8mhz. His software, RRELAY, which worked perfectly during the Rally, was based on an amateur radio variant of the TCP/IP protocols. Graham set up his system at Mt. Borumba, where the main WICEN field base was established, and at one stage had 5 packet stations sending scores to him on 144.7mhz, and very successfully re-routing these to Brisbane on 433.8mhz, with only the one intermediate digipeater at Maleny.

So "bullet proof" was this system, that, when base lost power in the Crest and was off the air for about 10 minutes on Saturday night, no scores were lost, with Graham holding scores received during this period, and transmitting them when base was operational again.

The wash-up

All in all, this event showed that WICEN could put a portable packet network into the field, and operate efficiently, and the experience gained will be of immense benefit if ever WICEN is called upon to operate such a network in an emergency situation.

HISTORIC RALLY GROUP

The TARGA TASMANIA was the event the historic group heard all about at the September gathering, when Andrew Chapman came to have a chat. Andrew was responsible for the preparation of Guy Beddington's Targa Lotus Elan S3, which competed in the 1992 and 93 events. Andrew brought along the recently released video of the '93 event just to show us how it was run. The event wasn't restricted to the Honda and Porsche exotics, but included modern VR4s and Holden Calibra 4WD rally models as well. From an historic point of view, there seems to be lots of classes to suit our machinery. One of the highlights was certainly the jumps executed through some of the smaller villages!

Andrew runs Chapman and Chapman Automotive at Coorparoo, and has certainly made Guy's Elan a competitive car for this event. Next year the Beddington crew plan on taking their new Mazda RX7 Twin Turbo, with an outright place on the cards. The Elan will be entered for '94 Repco Mountain Rally, which has changed its format to now run from Melbourne to Sydney. Several BSCC crews are planning to compete and it is sure to be fully subscribed.

Richard Anderson kindly sent his Avanti Spares LSM Alfa along on the night as well, just to show us what real historic cars look like. As always, preparation is certainly the key and for events such as the Marathon this must be ultimate!

The "armchair" rally was also run and won on the night. Alan Stean had set a corker of a test covering areas of the Brisbane Valley. Both "events" were won by Jacob Stecker and friend Roger who outsmarted six other crews and came away with all the prizes!

Other rally news.....

The Snowy Mountains 1000 is being held one week after the BP Range Rally Classic and Ken and Margaret Philp (Lancia Fulvia Rallye) will be representing BSCC. The event also coincides with the Esanda, held near Canberra.

AUSTRALIAN OFF ROAD CHAMPIONSHIP

NEWSLETTER 05/93

INTRODUCTION

I must start by apologizing for the fact that I anticipate this Newsletter, and the results from Mt Gambier, might be a little later than normal. With my secretary struck down by the virus currently touring Melbourne, my typing is a little bit behind, and although first priority will be given to this Newsletter, and the updated AORC pointscore, it is still going to be a little bit late. And as Denise has acceded to my request to hold the results until the Newsletter is ready, the nasty things you were thinking about Denise for being late with them were really misdirected. Just regard it as another typical CAMS stuff-up!

Mentioning Denise, she and her team did a tremendous job with the inaugural Yokohama Blue Lake City 400. As any director would know, putting on a new event, in a new location and with a new concept is more than a handful, no matter how experienced and competent you might be. There was certainly the odd wrinkle, and as a matter of course the organising team will look to iron those out for future events; but Denise should be proud of what she and her people achieved.

Yokohama must also be thanked for their generous sponsorship, and for having the confidence in off roading in general and Denise in particular to support the event in the way they did. Suddenly a rival for Kempsey is a distinct possibility.

RULES

The point was made to me at Mt Gambier (in fact it could be said that somebody had a bit of a bitch!) that it is becoming too much an accepted practice to fudge a little bit with the rules.

Examples cited were jumping the start, short cutting, and external refuelling, all of which are ways of gaining an unfair advantage. Or, to put it slightly less tactfully - cheating!

It was put to me that many competitors feel that they are being forced to do this against their will in order to remain competitive with those who have no such hesitation in bending the rules. Due to the basic honesty of most competitors, these practices are probably not too widespread, but nevertheless the current trend needs to be arrested. Both the organisers and the stewards for Puckapunyal will be alerted to the problem, and whilst it is highly unlikely that all transgressors will get caught, those who do, and the percentage is likely to be significant, will be dealt with harshly.

One of the best features of off roading is the camaraderie which exists amongst its participants. However, cheating is a very sure way of destroying this, and the honest majority of off roaders do not want to see the sport destroyed by a very small handful with no respect for the rules.

Think about it.

1994 AUSTRALIAN OFF ROAD CHAMPIONSHIP

The National Off Road Committee's intentions with regard to both prize money and AORC points were circulated some time ago for feedback. So far, only one person has expressed, and that verbally, any views at all. This person was opposed to the proposed prize money system, but one objection hardly constitutes the basis for discarding a proposal.

Put another way, the way things are going you can expect the new proposals to be implemented for next year. If this is not what you want, then you had better make your views known soon to either the NORC delegate from your state or to me, preferably in writing. Next year will be too late!

CLASS 5 CHASSIS

Again we have a similar situation with regard to the National Off Road Committee's intentions. Whilst the input was to be co-ordinated by Bob Stansfield, who may already have received considerable feedback, time is running out on this issue too.

Again, if you have a point of view which you want to put, do so through your state off road panel as a matter of some urgency.

CLASS 7

Letters have been sent out to Class 7 and 8 competitors, and also to state off road panels with regard to a proposal received by the NORC on the future of Class 7. In this case I cannot claim no feedback has been received. Letters have been received from, among others, Nissan Australia and Isuzu-General Motors Australia.

It is of some concern that the letter that was sent out has been taken to mean that the NORC has definite plans to give effect to the proposal either in 1954, or at some time in the future. THIS IS NOT, I REPEAT NOT, TRUE!!!

Quite simply, a member of the NORC put forward a proposal, which he or any other off roader is quite entitled to do. The NORC saw some merit in it, and decided that it was worth investigating further to see what the sport at large thought about it. And that really is all that has happened.

The crux of the issue is that a class which should lend itself to participation by the manufacturers, is only being supported by two, and the NORC would like to see more. If you don't like the proposal currently being circulated, and have a better one, the NORC would be delighted to hear from you.

If, as it appears is going to be the case, it emerges that the proposal is rejected by the majority of affected competitors, it will be discarded. It will not be forced on competitors if this is not what the majority wants.

FINALLY

Until Puckapunyal.....
